Information about Authors

Andrew Crowden, Ph.D., is a Bioethicist and Philosopher. He is Honorary Professor in Philosophy at the University of Queensland's School of Historical and Philosophical Inquiry, where he is Chairperson of the University of Queensland Ethics Advisory Group. He is Adjunct Professor at the University of the Sunshine Coast where he is Chairperson of the Human Research Ethics Committee (HREC). He is Chairperson of the WEHI (Walter and Eliza Hall Institute of Medical Research) HREC, an executive member of the Australian Institute of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Studies (AIATSIS) Research Ethics Committee and a member of CSIRO's Australian Health Biobank Advisory Group. Contact: a.crowden@uq.edu.au.

A. Kadir Çüçen is Professor of Philosophy at Bursa Uludağ University. He received his PhD in Philosophy from Duquesne University in 1993. His areas of specialization are systematic philosophy and logic. His research and publications cover ontology, epistemology, Heidegger, philosophy of science, human rights, and Philosophy for Children (P4C). Among his books are Essays on Plato and Aristotle (Sentez Publishing, 2022), Essays on Epistemology (Sentez Publishing, 2021), Bilgi Felsefesi (Sentez, 2017), and Klasik Mantık (Sentez, 2015). He is also the Editor-in-Chief of Kaygı. Bursa Uludağ University Faculty of Arts and Sciences Journal of Philosophy. Contact: kadir@uludag.edu.tr.

Matthew Gildersleeve, Ph.D., teaches and conducts research at the University of Queensland in Brisbane, Australia. His doctoral thesis was written on psychoanalysis and phenomenology. Matthew teaches in philosophy, psychology, anatomical and physiological sciences with research in ethics, philosophy and psychology. His recent research has focused on genomics, place, ethics, and neurotechnology. Contact: m.gildersleeve@uq.edu.au.

Mark P. Maller was Assistant Professor in philosophy at Lewis University, faculty member at College of DuPage (and others) and is presently retired. Ph.D. Duquesne University and M.L.S., University of Pittsburgh. Prior to analytic philosophy he concentrated in existential phenomenology. Interests include philosophy of religion, metaphysics, modern philosophy, scientific empiricism and practical ethics. His work is found on ResearchGate and Philpapers. Contact: mpmphilosophy@gmail.com.

Oushinar Nath is a teaching assistant in Philosophy at University College London. He specialises in epistemology and philosophy of mind, and his interests include wisdom, open-mindedness, inquiring attitudes, mind-changing, and cognitive skills. Contact: oushinar.nath.17@ucl.ac.uk.

Seungbae Park is a philosophy professor at Ulsan National Institute of Science and Technology in South Korea. He received his Ph.D. from the University of Arizona in 2001, having specialized in philosophy of science under the guidance of Professor Richard Healey. He taught at the University of Arizona, the University of Maryland, and POSTECH before coming to his current institution in 2009. As an anonymous referee, he reviewed book manuscripts for Springer, Routledge, and Cambridge University Press, and reviewed article manuscripts for such journals as Journal of Philosophy and Philosophy of Science. His publications can be found at https://philpeople.org/profiles/seungbae-park. Contact: veritistic@gmail.com.

Jakub Peloušek is a doctoral student in the Department of Philosophy at Masaryk University in Brno, Czech Republic. His research interests include the philosophy of technology, hermeneutics, narrative, and the ethics of human–technology interactions. His ongoing research explores how narrative can be used to examine human embodiment and its relation to technology. Contact: pelousek@mail.muni.cz.

Serhii Poradiuk is a PhD student in the Department of Cultural Studies and Philosophy at the National University of Ostroh Academy, Ukraine. His research interests include existential philosophy, phenomenology, philosophical anthropology, and the existential dimensions of war, with a particular focus on freedom, loneliness, and human existence in conditions of crisis. Contact: serhii.poradiuk@oa.edu.ua.

Rajesh Sampath, PhD, is Associate Professor of the Philosophy of Justice, Rights, and Social Change at Brandeis University. His most recent articles and book chapters are on major continental European philosophers, particularly Hegel, Heidegger, and Derrida. He has also published articles on comparative philosophical dialogues utilizing major modern continental European philosophers' works to critically deconstruct global systems of injustice, inequality, and oppression, for example structural racism in the West and Global South caste systems. Contact: rsampath@brandeis.edu.

Dmytro Shevchuk is a Doctor of Science in Philosophy and Professor in the Department of Cultural Studies and Philosophy at the National University of Ostroh Academy, Ukraine. His research interests include contemporary political philosophy, the methodology of cultural studies, problems of identity, and cultural and political processes in Central and Eastern Europe. Contact: dmytro.shevchuk@oa.edu.ua.

Kateryna Shevchuk is a Doctor of Science in Philosophy and Professor in the Department of Philosophy at Rivne State University of the Humanities, Ukraine, and Professor in the Department of Cultural Studies and Philosophy at the National University of Ostroh Academy, Ukraine. Her research interests include ethical and aesthetic axiology, the history and contemporary development of aesthetics, Polish aesthetic thought of the twentieth century, contemporary art, philosophical anthropology, cultural studies, epistemology, history of philosophy, and religious studies. Her recent research also focuses on Ukrainian art in wartime and contemporary aesthetic and performative practices. Contact: ksshev@ukr.net.

Gizem Şerifoğulları is an independent researcher who received her PhD in Philosophy from Bursa Uludağ University in 2026. Her areas of specialization are systematic philosophy and logic. Her work focuses particularly on Philosophy for Children (P4C), ethics, logic, existential philosophy, philosophy of film, and philosophy of art. She is the author of Akran Zorbalığı Karşısında Çocuklar için Felsefe (P4C) (Sentez, 2026) and Nasıl Yaşamalıyız? Camus Felsefesinin Sinemayla Serimlenişi (Sentez, 2023). Her publications also include "Pandemi (Covid-19) Dönemini Albert Camus ile Düşünmek: Nasıl Yaşamalıyız?" (Kaygı, 22(1), 2023, 88–114) and, with A. Kadir Çüçen, "The Fundamental Principles, Claims, and Implications of Existentialism in the Light of Sartre" (Balkan Journal of Philosophy, 2026/2, forthcoming). Contact: gizemserifogullari@gmail.com.