

Information About Authors

Annie Barthélémy is Doctor in Education Sciences, Honorary Associate Professor at University of Savoy in Chambéry, and Vice-President of the Association of Ateliers Ricoeur in Besançon. She recently co-authored Jean-Jacques Rousseau, l'homme comme projet inachevé (Université de Savoie 2014 – with Pascal Bouvier, Florence Clerc, and Michael Kohlhauser) and Jean-Jacques Rousseau, entre Savoie et Pologne (Université de Savoie 2014 – with Pascal Bouvier, Eric Brunat, and Florence Clerc). Her publications on Ricoeur also include “Le lien social en tension entre justice et sollicitude. L’horizon politique de la sollicitude chez Ricoeur et de la pitié chez Rousseau” (Lo Saguardo 2013) and “Herméneutiques croisées: Conversation imaginaire entre Ricoeur et Foucault” (Etudes Ricoeuriennes/ Ricoeur Studies 2010). Contact: annie.barthelemy73@orange.fr.

Alexandru Bejinariu is currently a doctoral candidate at the University of Bucharest, Department of Philosophy with a thesis concerning Heidegger’s early interpretations of Aristotle and the problem of formal-indications. Between June 2014 and September 2015 he was a doctoral research fellow in the SOP HRD/159/1.5/S/133675 Project of the Romanian Academy, Iași Branch. His main interests concern the status of phenomenological discourse and conceptuality in their connections with Greek and Christian traditions. Other areas of interest include: antic philosophy, philosophy of religion, literary theory, post-structuralism. His most recent publication in English is “Religious Feeling, the Original Experience of Life and the Problem of ‘es wertet’” (in Proceedings of the International Conference “Humanities and Social Sciences Today. Classical and Contemporary Issues” – Philosophy and Other Humanities, eds. Mihai-Dan Chițoiu and Ioan-Alexandru Tofan, Pro Universitaria 2015). Contact: alexandru.bejinariu@yahoo.com.

Oana Culache finished her PhD in Philosophy at “Alexandru Ioan Cuza” University of Iași, Romania, where she is also a teaching assistant at the Department of Communication Studies. Between June 2014 and September 2015 she has been a doctoral research fellow at the Romanian Academy, Iași Branch (SOP HRD/159/1.5/S/133675 Project). Her main areas of interest are brand semiotics and multimodality. Her published papers on these topics include “Semiotic Study on Translating Modes within Multimodal Messages: Developing a Comparative Analysis Model of Transduced Meanings” (in Meaning and Truth, eds. Sorin Costreie and Mircea Dumitru, Pro Universitaria 2015) and “Optimizing Brand Semiosis in an Interactive Environment: Meaningmaking and Multimodality on a Brand Website” (in Proceedings of the International Conference “Humanities and Social Sciences Today. Classical and Contemporary Issues” – Philosophy and Other Humanities, eds. Mihai-Dan Chițoiu and Ioan-Alexandru Tofan, Pro Universitaria 2015). Contact: oanaculache@gmail.com.

Symposium

Venera Dimulescu is currently preparing her PhD thesis on the role of nihilism in contemporary feminist theory. Between June 2014 and September 2015 she was a PhD Fellow in the SOP HRD/159/1.5/S/133675 Project of the Romanian Academy, Iasi Branch. Her main research interests include third wave feminism (with a focus on sexual objectification, free will, gender identity, power relations and the beauty myth), post-modern nihilism, cyberfeminism (especially on subjects as online privacy, the private/public dichotomy in the digital world, digital nudity and cybersexism), and political philosophy. She recently published “Rethinking the Political Discourse Through the Lens of Feminism in Contemporary Society: Corporate Feminism and the Act of Consumption as Means to Social Change” (in Re-thinking the Political in Contemporary Society: Globalization, Consumerism, Economic Efficiency, ed. Viorel Vizureanu, Pro Universitaria 2015) and “Between Myth and Reality: The Social and Political Representation of the Contemporary Feminine Subject. An Inquiry into Post-feminism and Popular Culture” (in Proceedings of the International Conference “Humanities and Social Sciences Today. Classical and Contemporary Issues” – Philosophy and Other Humanities, eds. Mihai-Dan Chițoiu and Ioan-Alexandru Tofan, Pro Universitaria 2015). Contact: venera.dimulescu@gmail.com.

Emilian Mihailov is the Executive Director of the Research Centre in Applied Ethics (CCEA), Faculty of Philosophy, University of Bucharest. Between June 2014 and September 2015 he was a postdoctoral fellow at the Romanian Academy, Iasi Branch, SOP HRD/159/1.5/S/133675 Project. He is interested in Kantian ethics, analytic moral philosophy, applied ethics, evolution of morality, neuroethics. Currently he is working on the implications of experimental moral psychology and neuroscience for normative and applied ethics. Recent publications include “The Argument from Self-Defeating Beliefs Against Deontology” (Ethical Perspectives 2015) and “The Normativity of Kant’s Formula of the Law of Nature” (Romanian Journal of Analytic Philosophy 2013). Contact: emilian.mihailov@gmail.com.

Roxana Patraș is a Researcher at the Department of Interdisciplinary Research – Social Sciences and Humanities, “Alexandru Ioan Cuza” University of Iași. Between June 2014 and September 2015 she was a Post-PhD Fellow in the SOP HRD/159/1.5/S/133675 Project of the Romanian Academy, Iasi Branch, developing a project entitled “Aesthetic Imagination and Literary Contexts in the Political Oratory of the 19th Century Romania.” She is the author of Cântece dinaintea Decadenței. A.C. Swinburne și declinul Occidentului/ Songs before Decadence. A.C. Swinburne and the Decline of the West (Timpul 2013) and co-editor of Perspectives in Humanities. Keys for Interdisciplinary (“Alexandru Ioan Cuza” University Press 2015) and the Supplement of Philologica Jassyensia X, 1 (19) (Tracus Arte Publishers 2014). In January 2015 she published in Symposion “On Diffident and Dissident Practices: a Picture of Romania at the End of the 19th Century.” Contact: roxana.patras@yahoo.ro.