

Information about Authors

Alex Blum is Professor Emeritus of Philosophy at Bar-Ilan University, Ramat-Gan, Israel. He has taught at NY Institute of Technology, the Hebrew University of Jerusalem, Tel-Aviv University, and at the University of Hawaii, Oahu, Honolulu. He is an analytic philosopher, published over 80 articles in the field, 2 logic texts, and over 100 items in Mathematical Reviews. He founded and edited for some time with Asa Kasher the journal Philosophia: Philosophical Quarterly of Israel, and was acting Managing Editor of The Journal of Philosophy, Columbia University. Contact: alex.blum@biu.ac.il.

Patřicia Dudíková is a doctoral student at Department of Philosophy, Masaryk University in Brno, Czech republic. In her studies, she focuses on philosophy of transhumanism, mainly a concept of posthuman and technological enhancement. So far, she has a publication on the societal consequences of human enhancement and an idea of friendship in a posthuman society. Contact: patriciadu@mail.muni.cz

John Mizzoni is a professor of philosophy in the Humanities Department at Neumann University, in Aston, Pennsylvania. He is the author of Ethics—the Basics, 2nd edition (2017) and Evolution and the Foundations of Ethics (2017). His research interests include applied ethics, metaethics, environmental ethics, and the philosophy of evolution. Contact: mizzonij@neumann.edu.

Seungbae Park received his Ph.D. from the University of Arizona in 2001, having specialized in philosophy of science under the guidance of Professor Richard Healey. He taught at the University of Arizona, the University of Maryland, and POSTECH before coming to his current institution, Ulsan National Institute of Science and Technology, in 2009. He served as an anonymous referee for Synthese Library, Cambridge Elements, Journal of Philosophy, Philosophy of Science, The British Journal for the Philosophy of Science, Synthese, European Journal for Philosophy of Science, Theoria, Social Epistemology, Foundations of Science, and Journal of Ethics. His book and papers can be found at <https://philpeople.org/profiles/seungbae-park>. Contact: veritistic@gmail.com.

Cătălina-Daniela Răducu is senior scientific researcher at the Gheorghe Zane Institute for Economic and Social Research, Romanian Academy, Iași Branch, editor-in-chief (with Eugen Huzum) of Symposion. Theoretical and Applied Inquiries in Philosophy and Social Sciences and executive editor of Logos & Episteme. An International Journal of Epistemology. Her research interests are social and political philosophy, gender studies and epistemology. She published two books in Romanian: Existență și cunoaștere: Bertrand Russell între idealism și realism

Symposium

(Existence and Knowledge: Bertrand Russell between Idealism and Realism, Lumen, Iași, 2016) and Construcția socială a genului. Pledoarii filosofice feministe (The Social Construction of Gender: Feminist Philosophical Pleas, Pro Universitaria, Bucharest, 2016); she translated into Romanian Susan Haack's Evidence and Inquiry. A Pragmatist Reconstruction of Epistemology (Lumen, Iași, 2012). Contact: catalinaraducu@acadiasi.ro.

Rajesh Sampath, PhD, is Associate Professor of the Philosophy of Justice, Rights, and Social Change at Brandeis University. His most recent articles and book chapters are on major continental European philosophers, particularly Hegel, Heidegger, and Derrida. He has also published articles on comparative philosophical dialogues utilizing major modern continental European philosophers' works to critically deconstruct global systems of injustice, inequality, and oppression, for example structural racism in the West and Global South caste systems. Contact: rsampath@brandeis.edu.

Izak Tait is a doctoral student in the field of philosophy of artificial intelligence at the School of Engineering, Computer and Mathematical Sciences at the Auckland University of Technology. His research interests include, but are not limited to, philosophy of mind, ethics of human-AI interaction, artificial consciousness and self-awareness, and philosophy of personhood. Contact: izak.tait@autuni.ac.nz.

Robert Vinten is a postdoctoral researcher in the project "Power, Prejudice, and Perception: A Wittgensteinian Approach to Epistemic Injustice", funded by the Portuguese national public agency for research, the Fundação para a Ciência e a Tecnologia (FCT). He is affiliated to the Laboratory of Ethics and Political Philosophy (EPLab) at Universidade Nova in Lisbon, Portugal. He is the author of Wittgenstein and the Social Sciences (2020) and the editor of Wittgenstein and the Cognitive Science of Religion (2023) and has had numerous articles about Wittgenstein's philosophy published in journals such as Teorema, Topoi, Philosophical Investigations, Critique, Dewey Studies, and Wittgenstein-Studien. Contact: rvinten@fcsh.unl.pt.