

Erratum Notice

There is an error in the article “The Progress of a Plague Species. A Theory of History,” authored by Michael F. Duggan, and published in the previous issue of Symposion.

The parenthetical in the sentence “The mild eleven-thousand-year summer – the Holocene (alternatively, Ereozoic) – that permitted and nurtured human civilization and allowed our numbers to grow will likely be done-in by our species in the not-too-distant future,” at the bottom of page 216, is incorrect and should be stricken. Ereozoic is not a synonym for Holocene, but may be used as an alternative for Anthropocene. The terms Ereozoic and Anthropocene are accurately characterized in footnote 5 at the bottom of page 217.