

Information about Authors

Ward Blondé is an independent researcher who received his Ph.D. in Applied Biology in 2012 from Ghent University in Belgium. He has an educational background in engineering, physics, logic, and bioinformatics. Since 2014, he has been developing and publishing a metaphysical theory of everything that is based on the foundations of logic (set theory, computer science, modal realism), cosmological natural selection, and observation selection effects. Contact: wardblonde@gmail.com.

Lajos Brons is a Dutch philosopher and social scientist living in Japan. After receiving a PhD from the University of Groningen in the Netherlands for a dissertation on an aspect of the history and philosophy of the social sciences, he gradually moved further and further into philosophical territory. His research interests are divided over two broad areas: one is in the overlap of (meta-)ethics and social/political philosophy; the other is in the intersection of philosophy of language, metaphysics, and epistemology. His most recent books are The Hegemony of Psychopathy (2017) and A Buddha Land in This World: Philosophy, Utopia, and Radical Buddhism (2022). For more information, see: www.lajosbrons.net. Contact: mail@lajosbrons.net.

Nathisvaran Kumarasen Govender is a Lecturer in the Department of Philosophy and Classics at the University of the Free State, South Africa. He is also a member of the Executive Committee of the Philosophy Society of Southern Africa, and the South African Philosophy Postgraduate Society. He is a PhD candidate at the University of the Free State researching the field of Critical Theory, Technology and Radical Pedagogy. His research interests are Critical Theory, Psychoanalysis, Political Philosophy, and Pedagogy. Contact: GovenderNK@ufs.ac.za.

Rajesh Sampath, PhD, is Associate Professor of the Philosophy of Justice, Rights, and Social Change at Brandeis University. His most recent articles and book chapters are on major continental European philosophers, particularly Hegel, Heidegger, and Derrida. He has also published articles on comparative philosophical dialogues utilizing major modern continental European philosophers' works to critically deconstruct global systems of injustice, inequality, and oppression, for example structural racism in the West and Global South caste systems. Contact: rsampath@brandeis.edu.

Damaris Stock holds a strong academic background in Classics and Philosophy, having completed her undergraduate degree at Royal Holloway University of London. Continuing her passion for Classics, she pursued postgraduate studies at the University of St Andrews, where she specialised in Stoicism and modern applications of this philosophy. She will finish her doctoral studies at Paris School of Business in December 2024, which further contribute to her multidisciplinary expertise. Contact: damaris.stock1@gmail.com.

Symposium

Richard Sivil, PhD, is a Senior Lecturer in the School of Religion, Philosophy and Classics at the University of KwaZulu-Natal, South Africa. His teaching repertoire includes modules on death, environmental ethics and philosophy, existentialism, moral psychology, philosophy of mind, propositional logic, and Spinoza. His primary research interest is in philosophical counselling. He has authored several articles on the topic, including: "Philosophical Counselling: Some Methodological Concerns" (Philosophical Practice), "Towards a Taxonomy of Philosophical Counselling" (with Dr Julia Clare, South African Journal of Philosophy), "Philosophical Counselling, Professionalization and Professionalism: A South African Perspective" (with Dr Julia Clare, International Journal of Applied Philosophy), and "Understanding Philosophical Counselling" (South African Journal of Philosophy). Contact: sivilr@ukzn.ac.za.

Gregory Morgan Swer is an Associate Professor in the School of Religion, Philosophy and Classics at the University of KwaZulu-Natal, South Africa. His research focuses on technological politics and the philosophy of history. Contact: swerg@ukzn.ac.za.